Speyside-Aged for 15 years in the Highland region, this single malt is finished in handpicked sherry casks imported from Spain. Aromas of apples, cinnamon spice, and toffee are found on the nose. Medium-bodied the palate consists of a burst of citrus peel followed by warm toasted pecans.

Tamdhu Single Malt.

Speyside matured in a combination of first-fill and refill Oloroso sherry casks for 12 years. 43% ABV

Nose: Delectable, fruity aroma with a lot of both fresh and dried/jammy fruits: blackberry, pear, fig, raisin, red currant, and red apples. Under all the fruit there is a layer of pound cake and butterscotch. A rest in the glass reveals a mild tart vinegar note, like sherry vinegar or red wine vinegar. Polished... downright elegant.
Palate: Moderate, nearly syrupy body. On the tongue, the fruits turn predominantly dried: prune, raisin, fig cake, berry jam. There is quite a lot of oak, with barrel char that is almost smoky and tannic, slightly astringent oak that starts to dominate. The grain is very much in the background, overshadowed by the oak and dried fruits.
Finish: Medium length. Charcoal again, with surprisingly little of the fruit notes carrying through. Mouth-drying oak tannins, slightly bitter barrel char, and a tinge of menthol on the tail end.
